Distance Learning at FGC

When distance or time separates you as a student from your instructors, technology can help to bridge the gap. Distance-delivered education can provide those with limited time, or those isolated by distance or physical disability, with access to a college education. Distance education courses offer convenience and flexibility to students balancing the demands of busy lives. Florida Gateway College is committed to providing its students with high quality distance learning opportunities. At FGC, the distance learning faculty and support staff work to ensure that all distance-delivered instruction is academically challenging, engaging, and of the same superior quality as received in the classroom.
